

Mission Moment

Meet Jay!

Jay has a passion for art and creativity, especially enjoying the flower arranging and painting classes offered at his home. This summer, Jay, had an unforgettable day out. The nearby Gardner's Gardens and Goats farm extended a warm invitation to Jay and his housemates for a free visit. It was the perfect opportunity for them to experience something new together. They explored a beautiful sunflower maze and got to meet some friendly goats.

Walking among the sunflowers, Jay felt like he was part of a living painting, surrounded by the vibrant colors he loves to use in his own artwork. This trip was not just fun; it connected his love for art with the natural world around him.

Jay's adventure at the sunflower farm was a wonderful example of how community kindness can create joyful experiences and bring art to life.
