

Nearly 11 years ago, A arrived at Hopewell with a unique set of needs and routines that made navigating daily life challenging. Over the years, she has made incredible progress developing new skills, embracing change and building a greater sense of independence and confidence.

A major milestone came when she transitioned from an on-site classroom to Centre Wellington District High School, where she flourished. She later moved homes within Hopewell to a setting that better supported her continued growth.

This spring, A graduated and attended prom with her classmates a joyful celebration of how far she's come. Her story reflects the heart of Hopewell's mission: to support meaningful, inclusive lives where people are seen for their potential.
