Handmade in Denmark

Experience Danish design that unites function and aesthetics

One of the most precious resources we have access to is water. Without water, none of us can exist. That is why Frostline products are created with respect for this essential element. The Danish design company offers a wide range of faucets, water taps, and outdoor showers, all handmade in Denmark in a timeless design with durability that ensures frost-free functionality all year round. Frostline breathes life into your surroundings and integrates a piece of nature into your daily routine.

Elevate your space with a shower or faucet so elegantly designed that even when not in use, they enhance your quality of life. Ever since Poul Henningsen introduced him to the concept that form follows function, Roland Thorsen has carried a vision of creating solutions based on their intended function. With a sculptural design language and an uncompromising approach to craftsmanship, Roland created Frostline as a symbol of timeless design rooted in engineering excellence.

An example of this vision is the freestanding outdoor shower from the DUO collection – a frost-proof outdoor shower crafted from high-quality materials in a timeless design. With its sculptural form and generously sized showerhead, it embodies an uncompromising approach to craftsmanship and functionality, ensuring both durability and aesthetic elegance in any outdoor setting.

The frost line [Frostline] indicates the depth in the ground below which frost cannot reach. The name Frostline thus symbolizes the frost-proof guarantee of its outdoor showers and water taps. Each product is designed with built-in safety through an original self-draining valve that ensures frost protection without electricity – even in the coldest months. During the warmer months, this system also prevents bacterial growth by emptying the product after each use, guaranteeing clean water all 365 days of the year.

Frostline products are available in several finishes, including copper, brass, polished, glassblown, and an elegant black shade, allowing you to choose the perfect match for your surroundings.
