

BIMER STUDIO

BIMER STUDIO is a Polish collectible design studio operating at the intersection of fine art and design. During Copenhagen Design Week, the studio will present a carefully curated selection of its latest light objects and furniture, developed as part of its ongoing research into light, material and form. The presented works balance between autonomous sculpture and functional design. Created using resin, glass, metal and proprietary material finishing techniques, the objects are produced in limited editions and treated as independent artistic statements rather than conventional design products.

BIMER STUDIO's practice focuses on the visual and sensory impact of form and on the way light and shadow shape space and narrative. Each object is conceived as a spatial presence rather than a purely utilitarian item, and is addressed to private collectors, architectural interiors, galleries and art institutions.

The presentation in Copenhagen will include new sculptural light pieces and furniture that continue the studio's research into hybrid forms positioned between contemporary sculpture and collectible design. Through experimentation with material and form, the studio consistently builds its own visual language based on the relationship between light, shadow and space.

Founded and led by sculptor Marek Bimer together with his daughter Natalia Bimer and her partner Kuba Różycki, BIMER STUDIO operates as a multidisciplinary workshop combining artistic intuition with the design process. All works are produced in-house in Warsaw using proprietary processes developed specifically for each series.

The studio's participation in Copenhagen Design Week marks another step in its international expansion and dialogue with the global collectible design scene.
