

ARCHITECTMADE Highlights Longevity in Design with Pausefisk and Guest Brands

Copenhagen, Denmark – For ARCHITECTMADE, true sustainability is longevity. For 22 years, the brand has worked with architects to create objects that endure, both physically and aesthetically.

Pausefisk by Kristian Vedel reflects this belief in tangible design. Created in 1956, it invites people to pause and reflect while holding it, allowing the moment to matter.

To celebrate this ethos, ARCHITECTMADE welcomes two like minded brands this year, inviting guests to experience design through use rather than as a display piece.

Together with Dutch-Taiwanese furniture brand Formosus Home, guests can enjoy Taiwanese fine tea served in FJ Essence tea set and Jørn Utzon's Spring glass, while seated on Formosus Home's new collection. With Kyoto-based Hirayama-nichiyo-ten, traditional Kyoto craft and Japanese culture are distilled into a functional stool, made to accompany everyday life for generations.

BUILT TO LAST. BORN TO BE PASSED ON.

ARCHITECTMADE is more than a collection. It's a philosophy.

We search archives and drawings of the most acclaimed architects of all time, and discover talented architects to create timeless icons that can be passed on for generations.

ARCHITECTMADE's products are designed with the precision of an architect and the vision of an artist.

Why we do it? Our passion goes beyond form and function. We believe in moving away from a throw away culture and celebrating timeless products that last. With excellent craftsmanship alongside three rounds of quality control, they are made to stand the test of time.
