pit-board

Made from at least 60% agricultural waste, Pit-Board is a solid, moisture-resistant bio-composite that needs no plywood or MDF substrate and requires no additional edge treatment.

We work closely with both Turkish and Greek Cypriot farmers, sourcing discarded olive pits from across the island. Each batch is blended by hand, giving every panel its own distinctive character and charm.

Dimensions
1400mm x 1000mm x 18mm

Custom shapes/sizes available.

A woman with short, wavy grey hair is shown in profile, working in an olive grove. She is wearing a dark blue t-shirt and is reaching into the branches of an olive tree. The background is filled with dense, green olive leaves and branches, creating a textured and natural setting. The lighting is bright, suggesting a sunny day.

Versatility, designed for bold ideas

Pit-Board is a versatile material suitable for multiple industries. It's ideal for countertops, shelving, and panels in hospitality, office, and residential design. In retail, it enhances visual displays, windows, and furniture, while in events and exhibitions, it's used for plinths, counters, signage, and partitions. It also supports sustainable, modular furniture designed for disassembly.

our impact

By transforming discarded olive pits into bio-panels, we build sustainable local supply chains and support greener construction globally, while reducing pollution on the island.

Our initiative also fosters inclusion by bringing Turkish and Greek Cypriot communities together. Guided by our manifesto pillar, "Diversity is the spice of life," we celebrate difference as a shared strength rather than a source of division.
