

YAMAGIWA at FRAMING, 3daysofdesign Debut Participation

YAMAGIWA will make its debut at 3daysofdesign Copenhagen, taking place from 10–12 June 2026, presenting new lighting collections shaped by refined Japanese craftsmanship. This debut marks an important moment for YAMAGIWA as it begins to engage more closely with the European design context.

For its first participation in the Copenhagen design programme, YAMAGIWA will be exhibited as part of FRAMING at the historic Odd Fellow Palace. As a curated platform that brings together brands exploring thoughtful relationships between craft, architecture, and contemporary living, FRAMING provides a natural context for YAMAGIWA's longstanding dialogue between tradition and modern expression through light.

With more than a century of expertise in shaping atmosphere through light, YAMAGIWA continues to explore new expressions of illumination through innovative materials and meticulous craftsmanship.

The exhibition brings together one new lighting collection alongside a new color edition within YAMAGIWA's iconic Frank Lloyd Wright collection. While distinct in origin, the works are united by a shared sensitivity to atmosphere—exploring light through moments of transition, material expression, and architectural legacy. Rather than asserting form, the collections reveal themselves quietly through gradation, texture, and presence.

About 3daysofdesign

An annual design festival held in Copenhagen, bringing together international brands, designers, and creatives across furniture, lighting, architecture, and interior design. Taking place throughout the city, the festival transforms historic buildings, showrooms, and cultural venues into spaces for exhibitions, installations, and conversations, offering a platform for exploring contemporary design within architectural and urban contexts.

YAMAGIWA

Established in Japan in 1923, YAMAGIWA is a lighting manufacturer recognised for its enduring commitment to craftsmanship, material integrity, and the cultural value of light. Guided by its philosophy, The Art of Lighting, the brand approaches illumination as a means of shaping atmosphere and spatial experience rather than as a purely functional element.

Drawing on traditional techniques and skilled artisanship, YAMAGIWA develops original lighting collections that balance long established knowledge with a contemporary sensibility. Over more than a century, the brand has collaborated with internationally recognised architects and designers including Frank Lloyd Wright, Toyo Ito, and Shiro Kuramata, bringing its approach to light onto an international stage.
