COPENHAGEN, June 2026

De La Espada and Garde Hvalsøe have teamed up for 3daysofdesign for the third consecutive year, expressing their shared values in an exhibition that reflects on what it means for products to endure. From June 10-12, the brands, from Portugal and Denmark respectively, present the exhibition Tempus.

Set within the Garde Hvalsøe showroom, Tempus merges De La Espada furniture from across their design partnerships with Garde Hvalsøe's signature kitchens and handcrafted interiors; a tribute to the expert craftsmanship and enduring design for which both brands are renowned. Curated by Pernille Vest, also for the third year, the exhibition allows materials, surfaces and proportions to speak together.

Tempus invites visitors into a design universe where materials, craft, and longevity take centre stage. Where time is not a threat to design, but the proof of it.

A ten-year-old kitchen by Garde Hvalsøe is placed side by side with the latest work from the Danish workshop, embracing the enduring relevance and beauty of well-made products.

Portuguese furniture brand De La Espada presents intricately crafted products from across their portfolio and design partnerships.

The exhibition celebrates products that will outlive the people who made them. Materials that age well. Construction that holds. Two brands, two countries, one understanding of what time asks of design.
