Curiosity Didn't Kill the Cat:
How Leaders Accelerate Connection and Engagement for Ultimate Success

Leadership | Mental Health | Motivation

With over 25 years of personal matchmaking experience, April Davis brings a fresh, human-centered perspective to leadership, hiring, and team building. As the creator of the proprietary EVT Matching Algorithm, which aligns people across 10 key areas of compatibility, April has helped create hundreds of successful relationships—with an impressive 89% success rate and just a 1% divorce rate.

Her secret? A deep understanding of how shared values, vision, and emotional intelligence drive lasting connections—whether in love or in business.

April now brings this powerful insight into the corporate world, showing organizations how dating is like hiring, and breakups mirror failed partnerships or toxic workplace dynamics. Her sessions help teams understand what makes people click, how to build trust, and how to de-risk hiring and collaboration by making better human choices.

April empowers audiences to be more authentic, transparent, curious, and—above all—relatable. Because when people relate better, they lead better.

Her interactive, thought-provoking keynotes are ideal for events focused on leadership, culture, communication, and future-ready workplaces.

Who Owns AI?

Leadership | Innovation | Digital | Employee Engagement
Business Transformation | Inspiration and Reliance | Finance

Today, I help leadership teams unlock clarity, ask sharper questions, and act with more courage.

Give me a room of leaders—CEOs, founders, executives, investors—and I'll help create the conversation they didn't know they needed.

That's what I'm told is my craft.

Whether I'm moderating fireside conversations, guiding ExCo teams through strategy off-sites, or curating leadership conferences, my focus is on helping people cut through noise, challenge assumptions, and move from talk to action.

I started my career in accounting and investment banking. Roles at PwC, Deutsche Bank, and Barclays taught me how good big organisations are at managing complexity—and how hard they find disruption. Too often, innovation looked like theatre. So I pivoted.

Now, I build environments where leaders can step back, confront uncomfortable truths, and think more boldly about what comes next.

The Impact Effect: How leaders harness neuroscience to create resilience, trust, and unforgettable influence in uncertain times

Inspiration | Leadership | Workplace Culture | Motivation | ESG

Today's audiences expect more than information—they crave meaning, connection, and experiences they'll never forget. With attention spans shrinking and competition for engagement at an all-time high, the margin for "forgettable" has completely vanished. In this dynamic, high-energy keynote, Jen Buck reveals how to cut through the noise and deliver impact that resonates on every level. Blending brain-based strategies, powerful storytelling, and interactive experiences, Jen shows event professionals how to electrify clients and audiences, transform ordinary moments into extraordinary ones, and create experiences that echo long after the lights go down.

Drawing from 27 years of experience with Fortune 500 companies, associations, and global brands, Jen shares the science behind what makes an experience stick—and the practical tools to make it happen. She unpacks how emotion acts as a highlighter in the brain, why novelty drives memory, and how to design moments that audiences replay long after the event is over. With her signature mix of energy, humor, and unforgettable engagement (yes—even singing and dancing on stage!), Jen gives audiences more than just ideas — she delivers an experience in real time.

What If Price Isn't the Problem?
How Bold Differentiation Drives Profitable Growth

Sales | Customer Experience

Backed by 15 years in corporate sales and marketing and 16 years helping global brands thrive in Latin America's fiercely price-driven markets, his proven approach forged in the trenches, helps organizations shift from discounting to profitable growth.

David is a renowned international keynote speaker and bestselling author of seven books in Spanish, three of them translated into English and two more on the way. His masterpiece, Stop Competing on Price (originally Bueno, Bonito y Carito), known as the bible of value selling, places a key question: What if price isn't the problem but that customers don't see the difference? The answer leads to an eye-opening conclusion: You don't need lower prices. You need better arguments.

Another of his bestsellers, It's the Small Things (originally Detalles que Enamoran), has become the go-to guide for organizations looking to differentiate themselves by paying attention to small actions delivered consistently, and hence, creating memorable customer experiences. David shows how small details make the biggest difference.

Over the past 10 years as a professional speaker with more than 1,000 keynotes, David has partnered with more than 450 organizations across 21 countries to help them protect their value, clarify what sets them apart, and create jaw-dropping experiences that build loyalty. His framework, The Value Shield, positions brands to lead with value—even in the most price-sensitive markets.

CALVERT

3 Steps to the Root Cause of Lasting Success

Leadership | Wellness | Inclusion and Diversity

Mindset Development Expert in Human Performance and Success
CEO & Founder of Dynamite Lifestyle Ltd

Kim Calvert is the CEO and Founder of Dynamite Lifestyle Ltd. She is a global expert in high performance, both on a personal and professional development level. As a success mentor and international speaker, Kim devotes her life to helping others 'waken up,' one thought at a time, and live fulfilled, enriched lives.

With a background in psychiatric nursing, Kim realised she wanted to make a global impact by focusing on the root cause of results—the mind. With just £4.20 in her pocket, she left her nursing career at age 28 to work alongside her mentor, Bob Proctor, for 7 years. A master thinker and leader in the personal development industry, it was here Kim learned to think into her results, achieving numerous awards and turning £4.20 into what is now an 8-figure empire.

As a global human performance expert, Kim works closely with her clients to help them achieve their personal and professional goals. She believes success is the progressive realisation of a worthy ideal — something that applies to your career, relationships, health, and well-being.

Kim and her team at Dynamite Lifestyle use a scientifically proven, step-by-step process to reprogram the mind in alignment with a person's vision of success. By building positive habits and removing limiting beliefs, they help close the gap between what people know and what they actually do—boosting productivity, focus, and effectiveness. This process also supports clients in stepping into their leadership potential and understanding the psychology behind influence and sales.

At the heart of Dynamite Lifestyle's success are three core values: Love, Transparency, and Integrity.

As a fully certified Consultant with the Proctor Gallagher Institute, Kim quickly rose to become the organisation's top Consultant, earning the highest level of recognition — Executive Diamond and Pillar of PGI — and worked closely with the late Bob Proctor himself.

Kim's desire to help others succeed is unwavering, and her clients' remarkable results reflect this commitment. She believes that to be a great mentor, one must first be a dedicated student—something she models daily through her ongoing commitment to personal and professional growth. This integrity allows her to share real-world insights and feedback that support continual learning and transformation.

Over the years, Kim has gained specialised knowledge in mindset, leadership, and business, and she openly shares this expertise with anyone ready to grow. She has also created and led multiple thriving businesses beyond Dynamite Lifestyle, driven by her deep passion for changing lives.

The true source of Kim's success is her relentless belief in people, her deep purpose, and her unwavering dedication to making a meaningful impact in the world.

TEAM THINKING

NOT JUST TEAM BUILDING

When individuals pool their knowledge, skills, and perspectives, they can tackle challenges more creatively and effectively than they could alone. Team thinking also encourages open communication and mutual support, creating a positive environment where everyone feels valued and heard. Ultimately, thinking as a team not only enhances productivity but also cultivates trust and cohesion

— key ingredients for long-term success. —
