MPS VOTE TO REPLACE FRANCE’S PROPERTY WEALTH TAX WITH ‘UNPRODUCTIVE WEALTH’ LEVY

This article reports that French MPs have voted in favour of replacing France’s property wealth tax with a broader tax on ‘unproductive wealth’, which would cover assets such as art, coin collections and some life assurance policies. The article states that the new tax still has to survive the remainder of the parliamentary session and be approved by the Senate, and goes on to detail what the new tax would cover.
