

When you see diarrhea,
there's often more than meets the eye.

Germ from diarrhea are everywhere and can be infectious.
Protect yourself and others:

Use gloves when you're working with a patient or resident or in their environment. Clean your hands immediately afterwards.

Use a gown if there is risk you might get stool on your clothes, like if you're performing personal care tasks or leaning over the bed.

Clean and disinfect the patient's or resident's environment frequently with the correct products.
