In partnership to Educate, Nurture & Empower

PSHE Curriculum: Christ Church Upper Armley Primary School Academy

Christ Church Upper Armley Primary Academy recognises the vital contribution of Personal, Social, Health and Economic Education (PSHE) to a child's physical, mental, social and emotional development, as well as the role it can play in relation to a child's spiritual, moral and cultural development. PSHE is an important and necessary part of all pupils' education. It is a real opportunity for both teachers and children to consolidate and work on the values that underpin every aspect of school life.

The Government's statutory safeguarding guidance for schools: Keeping children safe in education; statutory guidance for schools and colleges (May 2016) states that:

'Governing bodies and proprietors should ensure children are taught about safeguarding, including online, through teaching and learning opportunities, as part of providing a broad and balanced curriculum. This may include covering relevant issues through personal, social, health and economic education (PSHE), through sex and relationship education (SRE).

We aim to promote children's knowledge, self esteem, emotional wellbeing and resilience, and to help them to form and maintain worthwhile and positive relationships. Children will be taught to have respect for themselves, and for others, within our local, national and global communities.

We aim to develop key character skills, including decision making, informed risk taking, good communication, and self-regulation strategies. We encourage the exploration of, and respect for, values held by different cultures and groups within our local community, and promote the development of positive attitudes. We encourage honesty and respect in all relationships, and nurture sensitivity to the needs and feelings of others.

We aim to enable children to develop a deepening knowledge of their health and wellbeing, including their mental and physical health. We aim to equip children and young people with information, skills and values to understand and to be able to cope with the physical and emotional changes that happen during puberty. The information provided will be relevant and appropriate to the age and maturity of pupils.

At Manston St James we aim to prepare pupils adequately for adult life: its decisions, responsibilities, experiences and opportunities, and to allow pupils to develop fully as emotional mature human beings.

We acknowledge that through the PSHE curriculum that we can support social and emotional development more broadly but also recognise the local context of our school and the needs of our learners and their families. We specifically offer support for: family instability, family networks, domestic violence, and mental health. Support is offered by the home school partnership (HSP) team which, alongside school staff offer breakfast provision, nurture provision and Thrive.

Enrichment

Throughout the year, there are many opportunities for visitors to come into school to lead assemblies and sessions around different elements of the PSHE curriculum. We work closely with the Leeds United Foundation to spread awareness on issues such as discrimination, racism and many more.

Greater Depth

To encourage all children to reach their full potential we enable children working at greater depth to further develop their skills. We offer pupils the opportunity to dig deeper with their learning and link the PSHE curriculum into their everyday lives.

Oracy

At Manston St James, we ensure oracy is developed across all key stages to ensure students have the ability to communicate effectively in all scenarios. There are opportunities within lessons for pupils to work on their speaking and listening skills. Through partner work and group work children are encouraged to develop their communication skills. Our curriculum presents opportunities for students to talk about their areas of strengths and areas for development in lessons.

Spirituality

Allowing children to have the opportunity to develop their spirituality is an important aspect of the curriculum at Christ Church Upper Armley. Within PSHE lessons, children are able to develop self-awareness, reflection, empathy, imagination and creativity. All of which are central to the development of self and spirituality.

Key Curriculum Principles

PSHE is a non-statutory subject. At Manston St James it is taught on a weekly discrete basis, with some content also being taught through other subject areas, and within other contexts, such as assemblies, 'circle time' or 'class discussions'. A taught session may look very different in one year group to the next - class teachers have discretion to plan and deliver teaching that suits the individual needs of their class, whilst ensuring that all curriculum content is covered effectively. There is no expectation that children complete formal written recording of teaching, although some form of recording is encouraged. Additionally, classes may be encouraged to make an artistic response, or complete a more traditional written task. Some lessons may be talk based and have no written outcome at all.

PSHE is taught by class teachers in Years 1-6. Some PSHE topics are taught within other subjects, especially Computing, Maths and Science, for example the teaching of e-safety within Computing lessons. These specific topics may be taught by teachers other than the class teacher. Our curriculum has also been developed to meet the specific needs of our diverse learners and their communities and support the many aspects of their personal development.

At Christ Church Upper Armley, we follow the SCARF scheme. It provides teachers and leaders with a clear and progressive PSHE curriculum.

The curriculum is divided PSHE into 6 different strands:

- Me and my Relationships
- Valuing Difference
- Keeping Safe
- Rights and Respect
- Being my Best
- Growing and Changing

Within each strand, there are age-appropriate topics for the different year groups. One topic per half term is taught to each year group (SRE is taught over a whole term in Y2, 4 and 6). Each PSHCE lesson includes an overall learning intention and specific learning outcomes (based on knowledge and understanding, skills and the development of attitudes).

PSHE education will be provided to all children within our school. Children with SEND will be supported to access health, relationships and sex education through high-quality, teacher-led quality first teaching, following the guidance of the SEND code of practice. Teaching will be differentiated and personalised to suit their individual context.

Implementation

Attainment Targets

By the end of each key stage, pupils are expected to know, apply and understand the matters, skills and processes specified in the relevant programme of study.

Early Years

Children's personal, social and emotional development (PSED) is crucial for children to lead healthy and happy lives, and is fundamental to their cognitive development. Underpinning their personal development are the important attachments that shape their social world. Strong, warm and supportive relationships with adults enable children to learn how to understand their own feelings and those of others. Children should be supported to manage emotions, develop a positive sense of self, set themselves simple goals, have confidence in their own abilities, to persist and wait for what they want and direct attention.

Key stage 1

Pupils should have an understanding of how to keep themselves healthy. They will be introduced to different foods and games that will keep them nutritious and fighting fit during this time of their lives. They will explore different ways to keep safe both indoor and outdoors and will be given strategies and different ways to cope with big feelings. They should gain an understanding about what we put into and on to our bodies as well as prescribed medicines and how they come. Throughout Year 2, pupils will be familiar with the different sex parts on a male and female and will be able to explain the key stages in the human lifecycle.

Key stage 2

Pupils cover a range of different skills and curriculum that will progress each year. They will have an understanding about bullying and how to speak up and stop this from happening. Children will also cover a range of outcomes about keeping safe both inside and outside of school. Children will be introduced to Drugs (Prescribed) and Tobacco and the risks, influences and complications that come from these. Mental health and emotional wellbeing is a large part of our PSHE curriculum. The children will be given ways on how to deal with big emotions as well as ensuring that they keep their minds healthy. Children will be able to celebrate their differences as well as be given strategies on how to break stereotypes. They will understand what prejudice is and be able to make links to our RE curriculum on how to be courageous advocates. Throughout Key Stage 2, children will be able to start thinking about their careers and digging deeper into their financial capability. They will look at ways to save, spend and budget money as well as borrowing and earning money as they get older.

In Years 4 and 6, children will be taking part in the Relationships, Health and Sex Education lessons. We believe that in preparing children for their next stage of personal development is vital. The pupils will be learning and exploring what happens to our bodies when we grow up and how it changes. They will also be identifying key parts in healthy relationships.
