

When to Protect Your Team

Keep your own worst instincts under control

Protect your team from external time sucks and unnecessary detail

Manage the whole human and protect your team members from burnout

Praise team members publicly and discipline privately

Be aware of internal dynamics and deal with any troublemakers quickly