Adult Formation Keeping Time: How Living with our Liturgical Calendar Keeps Us Grounded

Sept 13, 20, and 27 at 10:15 AM | Colhoun Room

There are many demands on our time and many reasons our lives might feel like a rollercoaster. If we base our lives in the cycle of news or the demands of our professional or personal lives, we can easily feel worn out. The liturgical calendar is an ancient tool for spiritual practice and grounding our lives beyond Sunday morning. Join the Rev. Lucy Strandlund for an understanding of how we can live the rhythms of the liturgical calendar in our daily lives, grounding ourselves in God's time and embracing seasonality.

Education for Ministry

new groups begin this month!

Education for Ministry (EfM) is a lay theological education program developed by the School of Theology at the University of the South in Sewanee, Tennessee. For more than 50 years, EfM has helped thousands of people deepen their understanding of Scripture, church history, theology and discover how their faith calls them into action in their daily lives.

New EfM seminar groups will begin at St. Paul's in September for the 2026-2027 seminar year. Led by two accredited EfM mentors, this group welcomes anyone who wants to grow in faith, connect with others, and explore what it means to minister in the world. Both the classic four-year EfM track and the new one-year Wide Angle track will be available and participants can choose which path fits them best.
