

Future Pearl Labs Inc. (dba Bobacino)

Notice of Corporate Dissolution and Worthless Securities Statement
For Investor Tax Records

Date: March 10, 2026

Future Pearl Labs Inc., a Delaware corporation doing business as Bobacino (the “Company”), is providing the following notice to its investors for informational and tax record purposes.

Corporate Dissolution

The Company has completed the dissolution of its operations and corporate entity. Dissolution filings have been made in the States of Delaware and California in accordance with applicable corporate law.

Following the winding up of the Company’s affairs, payment of outstanding liabilities, and disposition of remaining assets, no funds remained for distribution to holders of the Company’s common stock or other equity securities.

Worthless Securities Determination

As a result of the Company’s dissolution and the absence of any liquidation proceeds available to equity holders, the Company’s outstanding equity securities are considered worthless as of February 1, 2026.

Accordingly, investors who purchased shares or other equity interests in Future Pearl Labs Inc. may consider their investment to have no remaining value as of that date.

Tax Reporting Information

This notice is intended to assist investors in maintaining documentation supporting their investment records.

- The Company will not be issuing IRS Form 1099-B with respect to investor securities.
- Investors should generally refer to their original investment documentation or investment platform confirmation to determine the amount invested (cost basis) and the date of acquisition of their securities.
- Investors should retain this notice together with their investment records for their tax files.

Many investors may choose to report the loss of their investment as a capital loss due to worthless securities in the tax year in which the securities became worthless. However, the Company does not provide tax advice.

Disclaimer

Each investor's tax situation is unique. Investors should consult their personal tax advisor regarding the appropriate tax treatment of their investment.

This notice is provided solely for informational purposes and to confirm the Company's dissolution and the resulting worthlessness of its equity securities.

Sincerely,

Future Pearl Labs Inc.
(dba Bobacino)