Major Research

Since 2021, I have worked closely with Dr. Elena Varshavskaya and Dr. Paola Dematté on research in Japanese and Chinese art history and archaeology. With the late Dr. Varshavskaya in particular, I developed two focused studies:

Space and Stage in Utagawa Kunisada Ukiyo-e Prints (2022)

"Nothingness" in Wabi-Sabi Philosophy in Dialogue with Entropy Theory (2023)

The second study became the foundation of my Final Degree Project Research, advised by Anastasia Raina, and carried forward in the spirit and legacy of Dr. Varshavskaya. This project explored wabi-sabi and kintsugi through practice-based experiments, sound visualization, chance operations, machine-making, and film.

The research culminated in a live happening on CHANCE: Transient Details (May 26, 2023), which I conceived, led, and performed with invited guests, an offering of tribute to Elena, and a brief, luminous conclusion to that chapter.
