In His Time

In his time he ran like the wind taking part in the carnivals
In his time he flew high for the mark a footballer through and through
In his time he took a basket or two and let fly his darts to the board
In his time he aimed for the Jack and called the woodchopping
As they swung the axe like a sword

In his time he filled his life to the brim never one to sit very still
In his time he became a husband, a dad, a mate always on the go
In his time he made many memories that fill the heart and the soul
In his time he has left spaces and teaching that will help you all grow

It was his time to run that last bowl down the beautiful lawn of no regrets
It was his time to knock the Jack off to that game up in the sky
It was his time to call the last whisper and say his final goodbye
It was his time now he lays at rest a man of talent a man of no regrets
