Activity: Air in Action – Creative Chart

Objective:

To explore and understand how air helps in movement by creating a visual chart.

Instructions for Students:

1. Title your chart: “Air in Action”
2. Choose examples: Show at least 10 things that move because of air, such as:
 - Kite
 - Balloon
 - Fan
 - Sailing boat etc.

3. Presentation:

- Paste or draw neat, colorful pictures of each example.
- Write a short caption under each picture explaining how air helps it move.
(For example: “A kite flies high because the wind pushes it upward.”)

4. Creativity counts: Decorate your chart with borders, headings, and pastel colors to make it visually appealing.

5. Submission:* Ensure your chart is neat, well-organized, and ready to display in class after the holidays.

Learning Outcome:

Students will recognize the role of air in everyday life and express their understanding through a creative, hands-on activity.
