Title: Co-Executive Director

Work site: United Voices for Newcomer Rights, 2201 San Pedro Dr. NE, Albuquerque, New Mexico 87110

Duties:

The Co-Executive Director (Co-ED) at United Voices for Newcomer Rights (UVNR) is responsible for providing strategic leadership of the organization, with a unique focus on integrating culturally responsive programs and research to support the needs of newcomer communities. The Co-ED will design and lead research initiatives with the University of New Mexico Research Team and develop and implement community-based participatory research methodologies for engaging newcomer populations. The Co-ED oversees program development and research initiatives. The Co-ED helps to manage day-to-day operations and fosters a supportive organizational culture. The Co-Ed will oversee grant proposals, grant compliance and reporting. The Co-Ed will supervise staff members, including program managers and coordinators.

Requirements: Master's degree in social sciences (sociology, community psychology or economics) or nonprofit management. Full-time.

To apply: send resume to Danielle Parker, Co-Executive Director at info@uvnr.org.
