Small Robinia Pirate Boat

Materials & Construction

Structure & hull: Robinia hardwood posts, about Ø18 cm, and Robinia side panels with no sharp edges; posts set 0.6–1.0 m into the ground
Deck: Low deck at 0.25 m in certified rubber with textile reinforcement
Play panels: Moving and educational panels in HPL; ship's wheel in HDPE; telescope in stainless steel and HDPE
Mast & sail: Robinia mast with HPL sail and flag; steel-core rope rigging in polypropylene braid
Fixings: Stainless steel screws or screws with plastic caps; calibrated stainless steel chains

Free-fall height is 1.1 m, so EN 1177 impact-absorbing surfacing is needed across the safety zone, for example 300 mm of bark or woodchip, or an attested synthetic surface such as wetpour. We quote it alongside the equipment.

How to Use

Pirate boat

Children step aboard the low deck between the bow and stern, take the ship's wheel, look out through the telescope and spin the bead panels on the mast. The hull sides give a sheltered space for hiding and quiet play.

Benefits:

Supports fine motor skills, early language and social play. The low deck and easy access suit toddlers and children with disabilities.

Inspection & Maintenance

Routine visual check weekly (daily on busy sites), an operational check every 1–3 months and a main inspection once a year. Check the rigging, chains and spinning panels for wear, the rubber deck for damage, and posts and fixings for movement. Morti Sport & Play offers annual inspection and maintenance for school and public sites.
