ABOUT ALLIED ARTS

Since 1971, Allied Arts has been a leading advocate for central Oklahoma's arts landscape, providing critical resources to more than 40 cultural nonprofit organizations each year. The support of Allied Arts plays a vital role in expanding access to high quality arts programs, arts education and outreach into underserved communities.

WHY CORPORATE SUPPORT MATTERS

Corporate giving represents over one-third of the funds raised during the Allied Arts annual campaign. The generous support of the business sector ensures a vibrant, sustainable nonprofit cultural sector which contributes to economic growth, workforce development and enhanced quality of life for all.

IN-KIND DONATIONS

Donate goods or professional services that directly support our programs, events and operational needs.

EMPLOYEE GIVING

Host an employee giving campaign to unite your workforce through interactive experiences. Donors of $60 receive the OKCityCard, and those giving $200 or more receive an 8x10" photography print by Oklahoma artist Clarence Long III. Payroll deductions and gift matching are available. Last year, employee giving generated 21% of the total raised through the Allied Arts campaign. Join more than 100 companies in supporting the arts and enriching your workplace!

"At Robinson Park, we believe in the transformative power of arts education. Allied Arts' dedication to enriching the lives of communities in Oklahoma City through diverse cultural organizations resonates with our mission. We are proud to support their efforts in fostering creativity, inspiration, and a brighter future for our youth."
