Andrew Truby FCCT

CEO, St Joseph Catholic
Multi Academy Trust

Introduction to our Trust

St Joseph Catholic Multi Academy Trust was established in 2021 and is now fully established. The Trust exists to provide expert support to its growing family of Catholic academies.

The Trust works in close partnership with the Catholic Education Service and the Archdiocese of Liverpool. There are now nine academies within the Trust.

Christ is at the centre of the St Joseph family and this is a strong element of the Trust's mission. We aim to become a centre of excellence in Catholic education. We believe that an excellent Catholic education can transform children's lives and equip them to go on to use their gifts to make the world a better place.

Each academy joins the Trust at a different starting point and bespoke key performance indicators are agreed with the Department for Education, for example around educational performance, finance, attendance or increasing pupil numbers.

The Trust has put in place a 3–5 year plan for each academy. The Trust is led by Andrew Truby (CEO), who has a strong track record in school improvement and is governed by a robust and experienced Board of Trustees. The Trust is highly ambitious for all of the children across its academies and has developed an evidence-informed improvement strategy, which brings together the latest research into pedagogy and curriculum.

The Trust's 'Reading Guarantee' ensures that every child learns to read through systematic synthetic phonics and chooses to read frequently for pleasure. A Trust curriculum has been developed in partnership with external organisations such as Ark Curriculum Plus, which reflects the Board's vision for excellence.

St Joseph Catholic Multi Academy Trust looks forward to welcoming more schools and academies during 2025–2026 and beyond.

Our Approach to School Improvement

The higher-level theory of change that underpins our school improvement model is:

All aspects of the school improvement strategy are fully aligned to the Trust's philosophy and approach, which means that there is one clear and consistent message to teachers and leaders. A robust curriculum model combined with focussed pedagogical development leads to rapid improvement and it is this symbiotic relationship that is at the core of the strategy.

Moral Purpose

As a Catholic Trust, our school improvement strategy places a strong emphasis on our ambition for all children, including those who are vulnerable, disadvantaged or indeed the lowest 20%. It is recognised that if we create the best possible conditions for the lowest 20% to succeed then we are creating the best possible conditions for all children to succeed. As a shared moral imperative, this is an area where we feel that significant value can be added through the increased efficacy that could be realised by working as multi-academy trusts.

We judge our success through the lens of 'the least, the last and the lost'.

As a Catholic Trust, we are responsible for continuing the Church's mission in education. We embrace the development of the Catholic life and mission of the academies as a core collective responsibility. As a mission-driven organisation, everything that we do is aimed at improving life chances for children. We believe passionately in the work that we are doing so there is a high degree of alignment around our purpose. One of our key priorities is to develop a culture for success across our Trust. We believe it is essential to have a mission/purpose that everyone is fully committed to (our why), a culture that enables us to work together effectively to achieve it (how) and a compelling vision (what). Our purpose is to transform children's lives through a world-class, Catholic education and we are proud that this mission is embedded and shared across St Joseph Catholic MAT.

Our academies are currently within the local authorities of Liverpool, Sefton, Speke, St Helens and Wigan, which covers an extensive area.
