- Keeps you consistent, even if you have no time or ideas
- Helps you connect with the right people
- Guides you to engage with strategic content for visibility
- Tracks engagement signals so you know exactly when to reach out

Meet the People Behind the Product

At the heart of Linkify's success are two driving forces:

- Affan Ahmad, Founder of Linkify and Lead Growth Marketer at Fcode Labs – whose strategic insight and market-first thinking shaped Linkify's direction and adoption.
- Adithya Narasinghe, Technical Lead at Fcode Labs – whose engineering leadership and product sense brought the vision to life with precision and scalability.

Their dedication, along with contributions from the wider team, played a pivotal role in Linkify reaching this milestone.

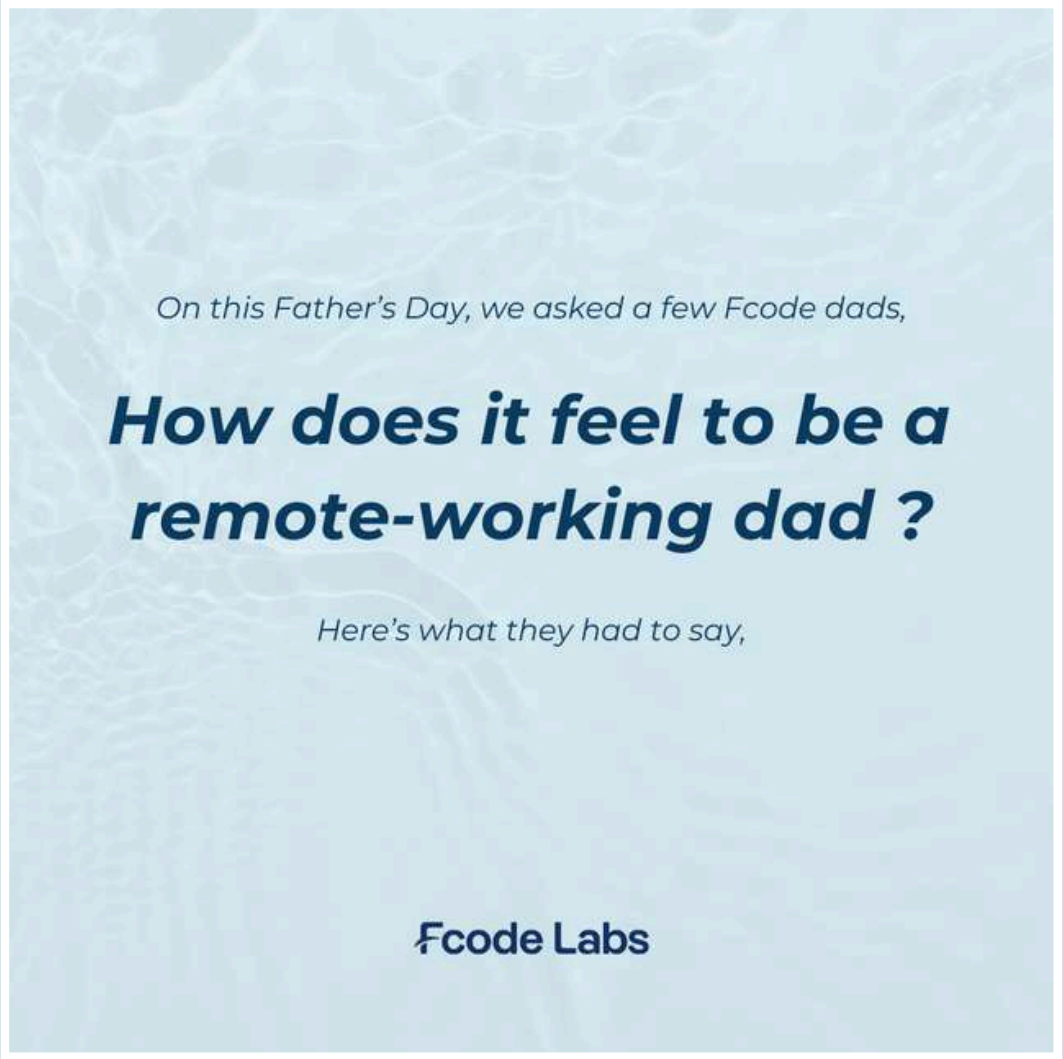
Father's Day Celebrations !



On this Father's Day, we asked a few Fcode dads,
How does it feel to be a remote-working dad ?
Here's what they had to say,
Fcode Labs

" Working remotely allows me to be present for the little moments in my child's life, while still giving my best to my work at Fcode Labs. Being a father is a daily reminder of what truly matters and fills my life with joy and purpose."

" My kids see me at the desk, probably thinking work means typing and sipping tea.
But one day they'll know, this is how I fight for their tomorrow, quietly. "

" Remote work didn't just change how I work, it changed who I am as a father. Present, engaged, and part of every little milestone. Having kids feels like I found a new part of my heart I never knew existed. It's messy, unpredictable, and full of surprises, but I wouldn't trade it for anything. "

The Wellness Corner

“Well-being is not a destination, but a journey nurtured by mindful choices, self-compassion, and the courage to prioritize yourself. Here are some simple practices to support your wellness and help you thrive along the way.”

Why Regular Health Screenings Matter !

In the fast-paced world of tech, it's easy to get caught up in deadlines, sprints, and long coding sessions, often at the cost of our health. But here's a simple truth: even the best lines of code can't fix a health issue that wasn't caught in time.

What is a health screening?

It's a proactive check-up that helps detect potential health issues before they become serious. Screenings assess everything from blood sugar and cholesterol to liver and kidney function, all the quiet systems working in the background of your body, just like a well-tuned server.

Why it matters for tech professionals ?

- Sedentary habits: Hours at a desk can increase your risk for heart disease, diabetes, and back problems.
- Eye strain and posture matters.
- Mental fatigue may cause physical disorders.
- "I feel fine" isn't enough.

Making time for your health isn't just responsible, it's smart. Because the better you feel, the better you code, create, and contribute.

So this month, take the theme to heart: Get Yourself Checked.
Your future self will thank you !
