Symbolic Meanings of Numbers in Ancient Judaism and Christianity:

compiled by Felix Just, S.J., Ph.D.

1	singularity; God in monotheism (Deut 6:4); unity for humans (John 10:16; Eph 4:4)
2	duality: contrary (light/dark, good/evil) or complimentary (material/spiritual; human/divine)
3	God's actions: 3 "visitors" (Gen 18:2); "third day" (Exod 19:11); later "Trinity" (Matt 28:19)
3½	half of seven; thus things in process, still incomplete
4	earth, directions, winds, empires; later the four Gospels/ Evangelists
6	human work/effort (Luke 13:14); incompleteness, imperfection (not yet 7)
7	days in a week, Sabbath rest (Gen 2:1-3); thus natural & divine completeness/perfection
8	Jewish day of Circumcision (Exod 22:30); Christian day of Resurrection (John 20:26) [not used in Rev]
10	completion; basis of many number systems (# digits on fingers/ toes!)
11	incompletion; only eleven apostles remain after Judas' death
12	months per year, tribes of Israel, apostles of Jesus; human completion
[13]	[used in later superstition; based on Judas, but not used in Bible itself]
24	Christian number for completion/restoration: OT tribes + NT apostles
30	days in month in ancient lunar calendars [not used in Rev]
40	very long time: years of Israel's Exodus, days of Jesus' temptation [not in Rev]
42	number of months in 3½ years (see also 1260 days)
100	= 10x10 [not used in Rev]
144	= 12x12, thus perfect completion
360	number of days in a lunar year
365	number of days in a solar year (cf. Gen 5:23)
666	number of the beast (Rev 13:18 only; variant reading is 616)
1000	= 10x10x10
1260	= number of days in 3½ years (thus incompleteness)
10,000	“myriad”; highest ancient number with its own name
