

WangXiaoming

Self-evaluation:

Years of working experience as a programmer, leading projects and teams.

Familiar with the technology stack of cpp, java, python and other mainstream languages, familiar with the microservice architecture

Experience in full-stack development based on node.js (multinational remote e-commerce platform development team)

Familiar with relational database, redis, rabbitmq and other technology stacks

Familiar with linux development technology stack, experience in android and machine learning projects

Familiar with project cycle management, good at participating in teamwork

Familiar with remote work process and work habits

Education background

Wuhan University of Technology Information Engineering

Work experience

Nanjing Brix Technology Co., Ltd.

Working hours: 2022/05 – 2022/12

Position : Game Backend Remote Engineer

content

Avatar Game Items

The project is a multinational remote team model

The project is based on netty + spring boot + nft, and I am responsible for the design/development of the game backend within the team

Shenzhen Weipin Technology Co., Ltd.

Working hours: 2020/05 – 2022/05

Position : CPP Engineer/Technical Director of Smart Aviation Department

content

simulator project

This project is an air traffic control personnel training software project, based on UE as the display layer, and cooperates with the management background to realize the airport air traffic control scene

simulation/training/assessment business

I am the project manager of the project and responsible for the design and development of the core module

Air traffic control intelligent scheduling system

This project is an air traffic control intelligent typesetting and dispatching system for Shenzhen Airport

Responsible for the design/development of core algorithm modules

During the working period, participate in and complete the development of flight CLDT prediction algorithm soho

Working hours: 2016/06 – 2020/05

Position : Individual Developer

content

Apps such as timer camera, handy account, and depth of field calculation assistant have been launched in the application market

Receive orders and develop digital currency quantitative trading module

Participate in the digital currency exchange project and engage in the design/development of cpp transaction module

Participate in the multinational remote development team of the e-commerce website, using the node.js language for full-stack development.

Vanke Service

Working hours: 2013/02 – 2016/05

Position : Senior Engineer, Technical Manager, Project Manager

content

Business master data

As the project leader, undertake the development/operation and maintenance work

Mobile payment platform

As a technical manager, responsible for project technical work

Contract management project

Participate in this project as a project manager

True node

Working hours: 2008/11 – 2011/11

Position : Software Engineer

content

Data zero-copy project

Significantly (9 times+) more than the network capture capability of the standard library

Tcp Distributed Communication Architecture Project

It is used for the tcp distribution communication library within the company, with functions such as service registration

Digital network management

Undertaking background development work

Shenzhen Huawei

Working hours: 2005/10 – 2007/10

Position : Software Engineer

content

HLR background development

The project is based on unix, cpp

Backend development