

How Tended is used for geotagging

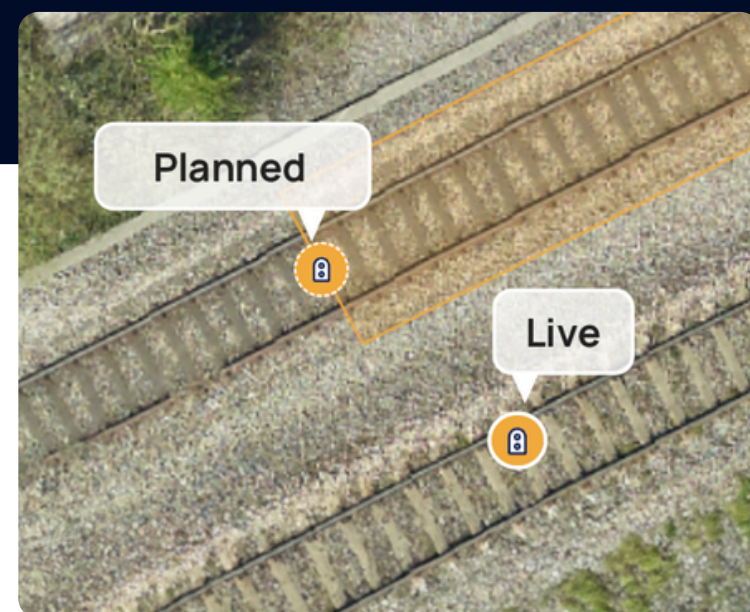

Geofencing is used to map out the location of work areas and protection equipment

A device is attached to all equipment onsite to verify their live locations

The ES is alerted if any unsafe events are identified so they can intervene

This also helps reduce the risk of protection irregularities or objects left on the line

