

Full Material Declaration (FMD)

Date: June 13, 2025

We, BRECOflex CO., L.L.C., recognize the importance of Full Material Declarations in supporting product transparency, regulatory compliance, and sustainability initiatives. While we strive to provide comprehensive material information wherever possible, certain formulations or components in our products contain proprietary or confidential business information.

Due to the sensitive nature of this data, we are currently unable to disclose a full breakdown of all material constituents. However, we are committed to working collaboratively with our suppliers to meet all regulatory requirements. Furthermore, assisting documentation such as compliance certifications or safety data sheets may be available upon request.

As always, we will continue to supply you with high-quality products that comply with all applicable legal regulations.
