Andaz Scottsdale Resort & Bungalows is an artfully designed, mid-century modern enclave tucked away on 23 acres of gardens and shaded groves in the heart of the Sonoran Desert. This is a retreat ideal for travelers in search of paths less traveled: The resort's 185 bungalows, suites, and villas feature private entrances and patios, bathrooms with spa-like ambiance (some featuring outdoor showers), designer furniture, and works by resident artists. Desert-inspired interiors were conceived by the team at EDG Interior Architecture + Design, who took inspiration from the innovative architects, artists, and graphic designers of the 1950s Arizona art scene—luminaries including Alexander Girard, Frank Lloyd Wright, and Paolo Soleri.

Offering three salt-water pools, a full suite of customizable treatments at the 12,000-square-foot Palo Verde Spa & Apothecary, and a glass-box exposition kitchen at the renowned Weft & Warp, the resort now inspires all who visit.
