Redfern

Our Redfern Vertical Village offers private, self-contained studio apartments in the heart of the inner city. Designed for people who want independent living with support close by, each studio includes modern finishes and a private living space, with many apartments featuring their own balcony.

The location makes everyday life easy, with public transport, cafés and essential services close by. Residents can enjoy the energy of inner-city living while still having a calm, secure place to call home.

Shared indoor and outdoor spaces, including a rooftop area with BBQ facilities, provide opportunities to connect with neighbours, friends or family.

Support teams are available in the building to assist when needed, while respecting each person's independence, choice and routines.
