MISSION

The German Music Therapy Society is the strong voice for all those advocating for the professional therapeutic use of music in Germany. As a scientific professional association, we are not bound to any specific method, but instead take an integrative, cross-approach perspective. Whether in research, teaching, or clinical practice, we actively support the interests of both music therapists and their patients in every respect. A particular focus of our work lies in establishing music therapy as a recognized treatment modality within the healthcare system.
