MISSION

The International Association of Art Therapies MAUT is a confederation that brings together associations, workplaces, experts, students and those interested in art therapies (art therapy, music therapy, drama therapy and dance-movement therapy) on an international scale. The confederation was established in 2009, where the common idea of supporting mutual and friendly dialogue between art therapists was voiced. MAUT supports the cooperation of associations, workplaces, professional societies and experts in the field of art therapies with an emphasis on collaboration with students of the given fields and the general public. MAUT sponsors and implements international research and participates in lecturing and publishing activities. Additionally, MAUT guarantees and creates an international register of art therapists and certified therapists, supervisors and workplaces in the field of art therapies. Providing a space and a platform for effective communication, representing the Czech Republic in the European and global professional field. MAUT is a full member of EMTC (European Music Therapy Confederation), and WFMT (World Federation of Music Therapy).

MAUT was established with regard to the need for the creation of art therapy professions, improvement of services, legislative anchoring of art therapies, and ensuring greater safety for clients in the state and commercial sectors. MAUT supports the interests of its members, internationally registered experts and workplaces, and supervises the observance of ethics in artistic and therapeutic practice. The International Association of Art Therapy MAUT is a confederation and consists of four separate associations. Each association focuses on one specific art therapy, therefore it is important for us to connect art therapies with each other, and to lead experts to mutual discussions and cooperation.
