

Tribute

Wine has a unique ability to elevate any moment, but its true magic is unlocked when shared with great company around great food. Wine brings people together, creating an atmosphere of warmth, conversation, and celebration. Its diverse flavors and complexities are best enjoyed alongside a meal that complements its nuances, enhancing both the food and the wine in perfect harmony. Sharing a bottle allows us to slow down, savor each sip, and engage more deeply with those around us, fostering meaningful connections. In these moments, wine becomes more than a drink—it's a bridge between people, culture, and tradition.

Our Wine List

Our Italian wine selection features some of the most captivating bottles in the world, blending tradition and innovation. While we represent every region, our focus is on Piemonte and Toscana, home to Italy's most elegant red wines. The Nebbiolo grape from Piemonte and Sangiovese from Toscana, both known for their perfect balance of tannin and acidity, pair beautifully with our cuisine, which combines rustic Italian traditions with contemporary creativity. Explore the passion and history behind every pour!

Since our doors opened in 1998, we have passionately pursued the finest wines from Italy, California, France, and the world's most renowned regions—often hand-selected by the very producers who craft them. With every bottle, we celebrate the timeless classics while constantly seeking out bold, exciting discoveries that push the boundaries of winemaking. Our mission has always been to strike the perfect balance between honoring tradition and embracing innovation, ensuring every guest experiences the thrill of the old and the new in every glass.

Corkage Policy: $50 per bottle (750ml)
maximum 2 bottles per table.

PROSECCO

The Prosecco region, located in northeastern Italy, is renowned for producing Italy’s iconic sparkling wine. Primarily made from Glera grapes, Prosecco is known for its light, fruity flavors and crisp bubbles. The region’s key production areas include Conegliano and Valdobbiadene, where the hilly terrain and cool climate contribute to its fresh, vibrant character.

BARBARESCO - DOCG

Barbaresco is one of Italy's finest wines, made from the Nebbiolo grape in the village of Barbaresco in the Langhe Hills. Initially dry and tannic, these wines gain complexity with age. They must be aged in wooden barrels for at least two years before release, with Riserva requiring three years. This aging process softens the tannins and acidity, resulting in a well-balanced wine that offers a captivating and evolving tasting experience.

BAROLO - DOCG

Barolo is Barbaresco's more illustrious neighbor in the Langhe Hills. Barolo is a larger production zone than Barbaresco. This wine is also made from the Nebbiolo grape. It is similar to Barbaresco, but is generally bigger, more tannic and requires longer aging. 3 years, of which 2 are in wood. The Riserva is aged 5 years.

BARBERA

Barbera is one of the most planted varieties in all of Italy, but it truly reaches its greatest potential in the areas of Alba, Asti and Monferrato within the region of Piemonte. In these areas, Barbera is thought of as “the poor man’s Barolo”. When this variety falls in the hands of a great producer, however, it can become one of the world’s finest wines.

BARBERA D’ASTI NIZZA- DOCG

Nizza vines are sun-demanding and normally occupy the best-exposed slopes that face from southeast to west; the valleys are excluded. The production area is the focus of the so-called Tertiary Piedmont Basin, a hilly region that originated from the lifting of the seabed during the late Tertiary epoch; the soils are calcareous, of medium depth, and characterized by sandy-clay marls and stratified sandstones.

LOMBARDY

Lombardy wine country, located in northern Italy, is known for its diverse landscapes and refined wines. It stretches from the alpine foothills near Lake Garda and Lake Como to the Po Valley. The region produces elegant sparkling wines like Franciacorta (Italy’s answer to Champagne), rich reds from Valtellina made with Nebbiolo (locally called Chiavennasca), and crisp whites from Lugana. Lombardy’s varied terroir and climate support both traditional and innovative winemaking, making it a key player in Italian viticulture.

TRENTINO-ALTO ADIGE

Italy’s northernmost wine region is actually two regions that are quite different from one another. Alto Adige, named for the Adige river that runs through the valley, was part of Austria until the end of World War 1, and the inhabitants to this day still follow the customs of their Germanic background, very similar to the populace of Alsace in France. They prefer to call their region Sud-Tyrol, its traditional name. Trentino, further south, has historically belonged to Italy, so names, customs, etc. are Italian. Climatically, Alto Adige is generally cooler than Trentino, although both can get very hot in the summer.

FRIULI-VENEZIA GIULIA

This region that borders Austria and Slovenia was traditionally a part of the Austrian Empire until 1919, and many of the best-known producers here have Germanic names. The climate here is moderated by the marine influence of the Adriatic Sea. Friuli has developed the reputation of being Italy’s finest white wine region. Very good red wines are also made in this region especially with Merlot and Cabernet.

Romagna lies on the eastern side of Bologna. The plains between Ferrara and Ravenna known as the Po basin are noted for high yielding vines that produce fruit for blending wines. Sangiovese, usually a medium bodied red in this region, remains the local favorite.

VENETO

Veneto is the third largest region in terms of total volume, but first in total DOC wine volume. Close to 70% of the DOC wine produced in Veneto comes from the area around the city of Verona in the west, near Lake Garda. Wines like Soave, Valpolicella and Bardolino are among the world’s best-known wines.

AMARONE DELLA VAPOLICELLA - DOCG

One of Italy’s truly unique and famous red wines. Amarone is made from the same grapes as Valpolicella, primarily Corvina, in the same areas, but Amarone undergoes a process called “appassimento”, where select bunches of grapes are dried on racks to concentrate their sugars and flavors. The resulting wine is strong and rich with a higher alcohol content than Valpolicella. Amarone means “strongly bitter” in Italian.

TUSCANY

The most dynamic wine region in Italy. The wine is made throughout the region, but focused in the interior, among the rolling hills and fertile valleys around the cities of Florence and Siena. Today most of the production is focused on quality rather than quantity. Tuscany, home of the famous Chianti, is also home to the so-called “Super-Tuscan”, top quality wines. About 75% of the wines produced in Tuscany are red. This red grape varietal is the native Sangiovese and its various clones: Sangiovese, Brunello, Prugnolo Gentile, Morellino, etc.

CHIANTI CLASSICO - DOCG

Chianti is located in the central hills of Tuscany. Classico is the most famous of the eight zones of the region. Riserva means that the wine has been aged for at least 2 years in wood.

ROSSO DI MONTALCINO - DOC

This DOC was established in 1984 in part to insure that only the very best production went into its big brother, Brunello di Montalcino. Rosso di Montalcino requires only one year of aging before release. Rosso is an excellent alternative to the customer that wants some of the character of Brunello at bargain prices. The Rosso di Montalcino from the top estates is usually an excellent bargain.

VINO NOBILE DI MONTEPULCIANO - DOCG

Located in Southern Tuscany, east of Brunello di Montalcino, the wines from the hill town of Montepulciano have been renowned for centuries. The wines are big, full-bodied reds made from Prugnolo Gentile a clone of Sangiovese and blended with Canaiolo and Mammolo which soften the finished wine. In a great vintage, Vino Nobile can rival the great wines of Brunello di Montalcino. Vino Nobile must be aged for a minimum of 2 years, 3 years for Riserva.

BRUNELLO DI MONTALCINO - DOCG

One of Italy’s greatest red wines, Brunello is a clone of Sangiovese from the vineyards around the town of Montalcino, south of Sienna. It makes a rich, dry and powerful full-bodied red wine capable of aging for many years in the best vintages. Beginning with the ’97 vintage, all Brunello is aged for a minimum of 5 years, two years in the barrel. Prior to the ’97 vintage, the wine had to be barrel-aged for at least three and a half years, which many producers felt robbed the wines of some of the fruit character and left the wines overly tannic and rustic in style. A Brunello bearing the label “Riserva” must see at least 6 years of age before release.

MORELLINO DI SCANSANO - DOCG

For centuries northern Toscana held the wine throne. Then along came Sassicaia in Bolgheri and the revolution began. Today southern Tuscan wines no longer have to live in the shadow of Chianti Classico, Montepulciano and Montalcino. While Bolgheri has become the darling of Italian wine fashion nearby Morellino di Scansano DOCG in Maremma is located in the extreme South of Toscana on the border with Lazio. The climate is warmer than in Northern Toscana and produces richer, more powerfull wines. Sangiovese does better here than in Bolgheri, but it is also warm enough to ripen cabernet sauvignon.

SUPER TUSCANS

Super Tuscans are an unofficial category of Tuscan wines, not recognized within the Italian wine classification system. In addition to wines based on the Sangiovese grape, many well known Super Tuscans are based on a “Bordeaux-blend”, meaning a combination of grapes typical for Bordeaux (esp. Cabernet Sauvignon and Merlot). These grapes are not originally from the region, but imported and planted later. The climate in Tuscany has proven to be very good for these grapes.
