

Supporting opportunities for local workers and businesses

Bungaban
Joint venture project

Bungaban Wind is set to create more than 1000 jobs during peak construction, significantly enhancing the regional economy.

We are seeking early interest from local contractors, trades, and supply chain partners to be involved in the project.

As we move closer to construction, we will roll out initiatives to ensure the region benefits from investment. This includes:

Collaborating with local councils and regional development organisations to strengthen business partnerships, promote economic growth, and increase local investment.

Ensuring major tender contractors submit Local Content Plans that demonstrate a commitment to using local workforce, resources and supply chain where possible. This will inform our tender evaluation process.

Encouraging partnerships with vocational training organisations to offer practical work experiences, boosting local employment and skill development.

Advertising subcontracting needs and communicating opportunities through business networks.

Hosting local community events and online webinars, allowing businesses to meet with procurement teams, understand project requirements, and connect with other suppliers.

Facilitating 'meet the buyer' events to connect main contractors with subcontractors, and actively seek local businesses for substantial employment and contracting opportunities.

Maintaining a comprehensive database to engage local businesses effectively.

Supporting opportunities for First Nations businesses and workers through targeted engagement and procurement commitments.

If you're interested in employment, trades or supplier opportunities, please register your interest by emailing info@bungaban.com or calling 1800 846 980 and we'll add you to our database.
