

Building career pathways for the kids of injured workers

Workers' Compensation Institute is proud to partner with Kids' Chance of America (KCOA) to launch Kids' Chance WORKS—a national effort helping students impacted by a parent's catastrophic workplace injury or death explore career pathways, gain workforce skills and graduate with a clear plan for the future. Your engagement makes the difference.

Get Involved

Provide Internships

Help identify internship opportunities for students exploring workers' compensation and related career paths. Your organization can provide hands-on experience that changes a student's trajectory.

Contact CEO Chris Letsos:

chris.letsos@kidschance.org

Refer a Kid

When a worker is seriously injured or killed on the job, children often face uncertainty about their future. When you refer impacted families to KCOA's Planning for the Future program, Kids' Chance stays connected with the family and, when the student reaches college age, coordinates scholarship consideration through their state organization.

Submit the simple online form:

Planning for the Future

Other Ways to Show Your Support

Sponsor the Kids' Chance of America National Conference

Demonstrate your commitment at this high-visibility annual gathering of Kids' Chance volunteers and workers' compensation industry leaders.

Sponsorship directly advances the national mission.

Learn more: Become a Sponsor

Become a National Partner

Join leading organizations committed to strengthening families after workplace tragedy.

National partners provide financial support, strategic engagement and visibility that sustain and grow the mission. Contact KCOA Director of Corporate Giving,

Jennifer Malenky:

jennifer.malenky@kidschance.org

Make a Donation

Your gift fuels scholarships, career exploration programming, mentorship and student support services nationwide—helping students move from possibility to plan.

Donate: kidschance.org/donate/kcoa

For more information on WCI's support for Kids' Chance WORKS, contact:

Andrew Sabolic, Executive Director, WCI

850-425-8116 ■ andrew@wci360.com