- Write the person's name on a leaf.
- Place the leaf on the Tree of Faith and Prayer (located in the foyer).

Sermon Series: Growth Date: 25 October 2026
Title: Into the Holiness of God
Text: Leviticus 19:1-2, 15-18
Preacher: Revd Adrian Chong

Pets, when kept long enough, sometimes look like their masters. Do Christians look more like God after being one long enough? Does it come naturally, or is intentional effort needed?

Main purpose of the book of Leviticus

The book of Leviticus is to address the issue of how a Holy and Perfect God can live amongst worldly and imperfect human beings. It is through religious liturgy that reflects the willingness of man to be holy and how to practice it in everyday life.

- Liturgical worship and burnt offerings that reflect holiness vs. daily living in keeping oaths and observing holidays.
- The making and installing of priests vs. the moral standards to be observed by priests
- The ritual purity of the people vs. the observation of holiness in everyday life.

A call to holiness (19:1-2)
The call to be holy for God is Holy, echoed through the book of Leviticus, is also quoted by Peter in his book. It is not achieved by not doing things that defile, but by actively doing things that are pleasing before God.

Other scriptures: 1 Peter 1:15, Leviticus 11:44, 20:7, 20:26.

1. Growth in Holiness by upholding Righteousness (19:15)
The authority to judge is not limited to the court; it means that we have to decide what is right and what is not. It is common for people to pity and side with the poor and lowly, just as Scripture says God opposes the proud and gives grace to the humble. The text reminds us that not all poverty arises from exploitation, and not all wealth is gathered from extortion. We are to uphold righteousness by their actions, not who they are or what situation they are in.

Other scriptures: James 4:6.

2. Growth in Holiness through keeping peace (19:16)
Slandering is something that kills; it sets nations against nations and people against people. Do not slander and stand up against the life of your neighbour, the LORD says. Therefore, we should be actively keeping and promoting peace. Even the core of our Gospel is about peace: making peace with God, then with brothers and sisters, with the community you are going to reach out to. Finally, not forgetting to make peace with yourself.

Other scriptures: Acts 10:36, Ephesians 6:15.

3. Growth in Holiness by expressing Godly Love (19:17-18)
Sin is contagious; you may have to suffer for your neighbour's sin. We are therefore to watch over each other, keeping holiness amongst us. Stories of everyone suffering for the mistake of one are not uncommon in the bible, as we can see in the book of Joshua. Yet, if your brothers or sisters get you into trouble, seek no vengeance and bear no grudges. Instead, love them as yourself; try to win them back with Godly love and tender words.

Other scriptures: Joshua chapter 7, 2 Timothy 2:25-26, 1 Peter 4:8.
