A detailed 17th-century Dutch painting depicting a bustling winter scene. In the foreground, a large, leafless tree on the left frames the view. A wide, frozen river is filled with numerous people in 17th-century attire, including long coats, hats, and breeches, engaged in ice skating. Some are in groups, others alone. In the background, a large, multi-towered castle with a blue roof stands on a hill. The sky is pale and overcast, with a few birds visible. The overall atmosphere is one of a lively, cold day in a Dutch town.

Step into a wintry 17th-century landscape with our Afternoon Tea, inspired by Hendrick Avercamp's A Winter Scene with Skaters Near a Castle (c. 1608–09), on display in Room 19 of the National Gallery. Renowned for capturing the joy and bustle of frozen Dutch rivers, Avercamp's work evokes a sense of warmth and celebration amid the chill.

Our menu brings this spirit to life with traditional Dutch open sandwiches, a rich chocolate and orange mousse, delicate Dutch cherry madeleines, a poached pear and custard tart, and freshly baked scones served with clotted cream and our signature orange and ginger jam.

A seasonal tribute to Dutch heritage, art, and the comfort of sharing good food.
