INTRODUCTION

Although little explored, the region of Nicaragua is one of the best points for those who search perfect waves without crowd. Facing the Pacific Ocean, it has an average of 330 days of land based wind per year.

Adding to that, the Pacific swell and the reef rocks that the coast has, we are presented with classic and amazing waves practically all year long! In addition, the region boasts a mesmerizing sunset with breathtaking views of the Pacific Ocean.

How about taking advantage of your holidays to get to know the main peaks in a quiet, unexplored region, where you will find peace, tranquility and, especially, very little crowd? Next you will know the main waves of North of Nicaragua to enjoy your trip.

PUNTA MIRAMAR - INSIDER

Perfectly located right in front of miramar surf camp “punta miramar “ or “la punta” is left point break which will be under your view 24h during your stay with us . Enjoy your coffee or your cold “tona” watching the surf and choosing which time would be best for you to go out.

This is definitely the most consistent wave in the region probably the most consistent in nicaragua. Any swell above 2ft with high tide this wave will turn on enough for you get a little barrel at the inside corner. Miramar is protected by the cliff so even the days we have hauling off-shore winds the inside of punta miramar it is still nice and glassy.

That’s the wave we usually surf most because it is so easy and good definitely punta miramar will be on your daily menu. With optimal conditions, the wave wraps around the reef and starts to grow carrying you all the way to the channel sometimes all the way to the beach, has an easy paddle out and works at incoming tide.

The outer reef is the most challenge wave in the region when the swell gets big this wave will never close out and will increase only in size and power .

During mid-swell days the wave is fun and perfect to be riden with a long board, but once the swell gets over 6 ft the wave will change completely from water to wine increasing the surf level and satisfaction for the big riders.

PUERTO SANDINO

Get aboard of our surf panga and go surf the best wave of nicaragua !

Puerto sandino or freight trains as know is world class wave locate only 10 min away from Miramar Surf Camp by boat. This wave will depend only on the sandbar in case we have a poorly rainy season then the wave can not work at all , but with proper rain , wind the river will throw so much sediment filling sand bar in the middle of the ocean making super shallow sand bar expose to the south swell. Super consistent a true wave machine .

The year of 2018 has been super special for sandino the sand bar is as good as it gets and the wave used to be known as a left for the last 20 year, but this year the wave has been breaking different. A-frames leg burners for both sides. The dream is real now goofies and regular treat yourself and pick which side you would prefer to shred .

Freight trains is known for your super long rides and endless barrels, best at incoming tide. The main wave in the region and definitely one of the best waves in the world a good day at sandino can be compare with a good day of surfing on Indonesia.

Located only 20 min aboard of our boat Salinas is truly mirage, it is located 3 miles north of Puerto Sandino, this beach has couple miles of empty coast line and is a real wave magnet .

Salinas is a place where it will peak most swells , small days out front super fun days at salinas , the trick for salinas is good cross swell when we get s-sw mix with nw this wave gets good as get, with the swell pure south the wave can be closing out to much the nw swell make much more corners which allow you to get drained for real

Salinas is not a beginner wave we recommend there for intermediate and experience surfer . If you are looking to improve your barrel ride this definitely is the place to go.

THE PIPES

One minute walking north from the resort you will see “the pipes”, the name of the breaks come from the pipeline you can see from the beach. Known by most of the locals as the “beach break” this wave bends like a fruit bowl a-frames go right or left is up to you. The right is more soft and easy going to the beach break and the left has a lot more potential and power with barrels right on the take off and long wall with close out section to bust some airs. Watch out! The tide is key to surf pipes during dead-low tide the left gets super shallow and with high tide this wave doesn’t break, it’s very important you choose the mid tide pipe usually works best during this time.

SHACKS

Shacks is a sick slab wave locate only 5 min of miramar surf camp.

The wave is left most of the time occasional right can be ridden as well but the left is the main wave and with any swell above 3ft on incoming tide close to high tide this wave turns on , and will be one of the funnest waves you will surf staying with us.

With optimal conditions the swell wedges on the flat table rock and make hollow take off providing dry barrels with good walls which can be ridden all the way to the beach.

SHIFTS

Shifts is located only 100 ft walking from shack 5 minutes from our hotel.

Shifts is the most friendly wave in the region there you don't have much chance to be caught inside by big sets this wave has an outer reef which breaks the swell and produce a more friendly line up.

The best time to surf this wave is during high-incoming ride and the wave break for both sides rights and lefts.

Shifts is the best beginner-intermediate wave or for those who like to bust big air or hot dog surf this wave is super fun and ripple.

El transito the next town south of miramar. The best way to get there is by boat ride is 10 miles riding this beautiful coast the boat ride takes around 40 min , we provide fishing rods and a cooler with beers and soft drinks and water. By car el transito is easy as well or you can try the nicaraguan experience and enjoy the tuc tuc ride .

El transito is beach break and a swell magnet the beach is pretty small in extension and the swell when picks on size the waves get out of control but on mid-small days is super fun option . The town of el transito has grown a lot over the past few year and became a really cool tourist destination. Their you can mix the surfing with a day trip to enjoy the beach, tide pools, bar & restaurants.

The best time to surf is with mid-tide close to high . The wave breaks for both sides and is super ripple with friendly take off and provide long rides all the way to the shore. The beach has one break in each corner. Definitely one of the things to put on your to do list when you are here.
