

North Carolina Wrecks

SEPT 2-6, 2027

Visit the 'Graveyard of the Atlantic', North Carolina. Each trip is an Awesome Adventures-exclusive, with two days of 3-tank diving and a 2-tank trip on the third day, for a total of 8 great dives over three days! No one loves to dive like Awesome-Adventures, and there's no diving like North Carolina in the summer!

THE LODGING

The Discovery Diving Dive Lodge is located two blocks from the dive shop providing economical accommodations in dormitory style shared rooms and one bath for men and one for women. Optional (added cost) accommodations can be made at the Holiday Inn approximately 5 miles from the dive shop.

THE DIVING

North Carolina offers a diving experience like none other. Nowhere else will you find such excitement underwater. It's true that we have longer boat rides, more finicky conditions, and greater depths than many other destinations. We don't have guides to monitor your air or carry your gear, but these aspects only enhance the sense of adventure that is North Carolina diving.

Each dive in North Carolina is an experience lifted from the pages of National Geographic. Our awe-inspiring shipwrecks come with fascinating—and often tragic—tales of submarine warfare, treacherous storms, and catastrophic collisions. Even our artificial reefs evoke compelling stories of navigational feats and wartime patrols. These shipwrecks—the Graveyard of the Atlantic—constitute an unparalleled symbolic collection of our maritime history.

And the fish! Unlike the sedate suburban sprawl of coral reefs, each shipwreck is its own ecological metropolis, a bustling urban center emerging from a vast sandy plain where animals come to eat, breed, and seek protection from predators.

On any given dive you'll see members from each link of the marine food chain—and you'll see them in astounding numbers, from sponges and coral up to our beloved sand tiger sharks. Patrolling pelagics feed on giant schools of bait fish as huge turtles and rays glide along the bottom and colorful reef fish contrast against the scattered debris. On that perfect day, when the sun is shining, the seas are calm, and the warm, clear water of the Gulf Stream provides almost unlimited visibility, North Carolina diving is as good as it gets anywhere in the world.

Our Chosen Charity For This Trip!

Promoting understanding of the economic and ecological benefits of Artificial Reefs in Eastern North Carolina, in order to raise money for the sinking of new Shipwrecks for the enjoyment of SCUBA Divers and Sports Fisherman along the Crystal Coast of North Carolina.

The Eastern Carolina Artificial Reef Association will be working closely with NC Division of Marine Fisheries artificial reef coordinator, Jim Francisconi and area sport fishing associations.

The Eastern Carolina Artificial Reef Association is open to all members of the community, divers, fisherman, waterman, boat owners and nature lovers.
