

Why Credit Unions Choose MangoApps

Credit Unions face the common organizational problems of any company—overreliance on email, cluttered inboxes, siloed information, and poorly organized intranet, to name a few.

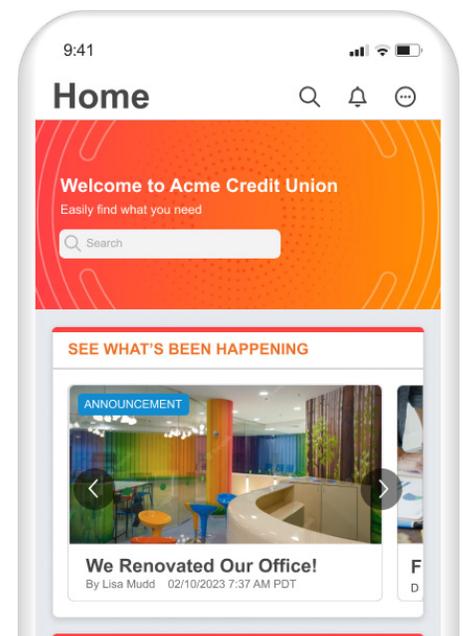

The added wrinkle of complex security needs makes it that much harder to find solutions, as many intranet and communications platforms simply do not have the functionality needed to protect and manage financial data.

Our financial service customers love MangoApps because it has the deep security and permissions features they need, without compromising on the end-user experience for their employees.

On the security and compliance side, we offer private cloud and on-premise deployment, as well as the Compliance Cloud, a specialized version of MangoApps that is set up to meet your needs out of the box.

MANGOAPPS IS THE PERFECT SOLUTION FOR YOUR CREDIT UNION

- Our robust enterprise-level security features include DLP, flexible data retention policies, compliance monitoring, and much more.
- Permissions management is easy—you can have public and private spaces with nuanced roles and access, and collaborate with guest users where appropriate.
- Our user-friendly intranet platform has employee recognition and a social media-like interface, which will improve company culture and employee engagement.

Better Communication Between Branches

Interra Credit Union has multiple employees spread out between different branches across Indiana. They were looking to create a space where team members could find and share information in one centralized location, such as new employee announcements and documentation that needs to be shared across multiple departments.

Employee Updates & Recognition

MangoApps allows Interra Credit Union to share updates company-wide or to specific teams, and have different departments collaborate on documents. Team managers can announce new hires and users can recognize one another's successes, as well as celebrate professional achievements.

Company:

Interra Credit Union

Headquarters:

Goshen, IN

Employees:

300

Overview:

Interra Credit Union, founded in 1932, emerged out of the Great Depression. Goshen locals scraped together what little money they had with the goal of creating a financial cooperative that could help each other.

Since its inception, the credit union has grown to serve more members and more communities, spanning across north central Indiana. Though times change, their values have not; the focus remains on a commitment to serve.

Informed On-the-Go

St. Louis Community Credit Union is a credit union that is proud to provide members with better rates, fewer fees, and an exceptional overall experience. SLCCU was ready to become even better by strengthening its internal communication. SLCCU tellers and other floor staff often worked on-the-go or without regular access to a computer. Staying up-to-date on news was difficult and employees struggled to communicate with the corporate office and other branches. SLCCU need a mobile, social, and easy to use tool to help employees communicate quickly across the company and build a supportive company community.

A Social Setting

MangoApps perfectly combined the security features of a financial institution with the social tools employees loved. As a social media inspired platform, MangoApps created a visually engaging and familiar experience, especially for younger employees, making it the perfect place for company culture to grow. And MangoApps' easily accessible company intranet turned searching for and sharing news into a simple and straightforward experience. Employees were no longer uninformed or out of the loop, and could receive and react to updates instantly, even without a company email address.

Company:

St. Louis Community Credit Union

Headquarters:

St. Louis, MO

Employees:

St. Louis Community Credit Union (SLCCU) has 150+ employees spread across the greater St. Louis region.

Overview:

SLCCU is Missouri's 6th largest credit union, providing affordable and personalized banking services to more than 60,000 members. SLCCU serves members in 11 branches throughout the greater St. Louis area.

SLCCU needed a mobile, user-friendly, and socially engaging collaboration tool to help its on-the-go employees work effectively.

MangoApps provided SLCCU with a social media inspired collaboration platform utilizing the tools employees already loved.
