A Beautiful Day in the Neighborhood

Rev. Dr. Clarence Wright brings pastoral depth and theological clarity to conversations about public faith, justice, and moral formation. Drawing on the theology of Fred Rogers, Wright highlights a vision of Christian life rooted in dignity, gentleness, truth-telling, and neighbor-love—one that takes emotional life seriously as a site of moral and spiritual formation.

Together, Wright's work and Rogers's legacy invite the church to reclaim kindness, courage, and attentiveness as profound theological practices for resisting dehumanization and nurturing beloved community.
