Experience

Product Designer, Garmin International

April 2020 - Present

Leading the Forerunner product line from 955 to the present. Developed main line features such as Morning Report, HRV Status, RPE & Feel, HIIT, and Strength. Leading Forerunner products through customer acceptance testing to validate designs. Providing a continuing effort to integrate Figma into my team's workflow. Working closely with high-level software engineering to implement features on integrated hardware with performance limitations.

UX Design Intern, Garmin International

May 2019 - September 2019

Developed the user experience for performance cycling and navigation features. Delivered documentation, requirements, research findings, prototypes, wireframes, and visual design concepts. Worked directly with engineering to understand complexity and define a pathway to launch.
