BIOGRAPHY

Natalie Robinson is a Black, queer DJ based in Berlin, an integral figure in the city's dynamic house music scene.

With a deep passion for house music and an innate ability to read the room, Natalie fuses classic, garage, soulful, and underground & tribal sounds into sets that electrify dance floors.

Her performances combine technical mastery and magnetic stage presence, drawing audiences into a journey of rhythm and emotion.

Known for her soulful sound and rare, hard-to-find underground tracks, Natalie highlights the deep roots of house music in her sets. As a Black, queer woman with Ghanaian heritage, she brings a unique perspective, blending influences from gospel, funk, soul, and the rhythmic energy of her background.

For Natalie, house music is more than a genre—it's a cultural legacy born out of Black communities, celebrating resilience, freedom, and connection. Every performance is an opportunity to educate the crowd, weaving together house music's origins while creating moments of joy and unity.
