

Wilshire Global Real Estate Securities IndexSM

As of December 31, 2025

The Wilshire Global Real Estate Securities IndexSM (Wilshire Global RESISM) measures global publicly-traded real estate securities. The purpose is to create indexes of publicly-traded real estate equity securities without the limitations of appraisal-based indexes. The Wilshire Global RESISM, Wilshire US RESISM and Wilshire exUS RESISM were developed to offer market-based indexes that are more reflective of global real estate held by pension funds. These indexes serve as proxies for direct real estate investing by excluding securities whose value is not always tied to the value of underlying real estate. Exclusions include: mortgage REITs, real estate finance companies, mortgage brokers and bankers, commercial and residential real estate brokers, home builders, large landowners and subdividers of unimproved land, hybrid REITs and timber REITs. The reason for the exclusions is that factors other than real estate supply and demand, such as interest rates, sales services and manufacturing, influence the market value of these companies. The US and exUS indexes together make up the global index family.
