... for your career start at EMPORIAS.

As a graduate with a university master's or diploma degree, you start your career at EMPORIAS as a consultant. Applicants with several years of relevant work experience are offered a start in management consulting as a senior consultant.

(Senior) Consultant (m/f/d)—Supply Chain Management

YOUR RESPONSIBILITIES

- You create tailor-made solutions and concepts along the entire value chain on topics such as Industry 4.0, supply chain management, digitization, process optimization, lean management, data analytics, and sustainability.
- In the team, you independently develop solution ideas together with our clients and also implement them.
- In doing so, you analyze complex data relationships and derive courses of action and optimization suggestions from them.
- In addition, you contribute your own ideas and help us expand our product and service portfolio and innovative methods to excite our clients.

YOUR REQUIREMENTS

- Above-average completed Master's/diploma degree in the field of business, industrial engineering, or business informatics, or comparable programs, ideally with a focus on consulting, finance, logistics, or supply chain
- Ideally, some first experience in a company from consulting or industry
- Strong interest in complex economic contexts and logistics principles, as well as curiosity about varied tasks and topics.
- Analytical and conceptual skills with a solution-oriented, pragmatic approach.
- Very good team and communication skills, independent working style, and professional demeanor.
- Fluent German and English, as well as very good user skills in all common MS Office products (knowledge of SAP and Microsoft Power BI is a plus).
