WINEMAKING & VINEYARD

Organic. 100% Muscaris grown on the volcanic basalt for which the Vulkanland appellation is named, mixed in with slate, gneiss, and opok. Hand-harvested in September and macerated for roughly 12 hours. Spontaneous fermentation in stainless steel, with 2/3 of the wine aged for one year on full lees, then racked once to fine lees to remain aging there for the next 21 months with no further movement. Bottled unfinned and unfiltered, with an 8ppm SO₂ addition. Beautiful, fragrant nose; on the palate it reminds us of the stirring wines of Andreas Tscheppe in the not-so-far-away Südsteiermark, albeit more dense, strongly mineral, and with lots of tension. A stunner.
