

Mountain Retreat by Dukley Brings a New Perspective on Mountain Hospitality to Kolašin

Kolašin, Montenegro - Nestled on the forested slopes of Bjelasica, this June, Mountain Retreat by Dukley introduces a new chapter in Montenegro's mountain hospitality landscape. Located near the heart of Kolašin, one of the country's fastest growing year round destinations, the retreat offers a setting where architecture, nature and atmosphere exist in quiet harmony.

Surrounded by pristine forests, mountain trails and some of Montenegro's most valuable natural landscapes, the property enjoys a unique position at the gateway to Biogradska Gora National Park, home to one of Europe's last remaining primeval forests. Here, nature is not simply a backdrop. It shapes the entire experience.

The completed first stage of Mountain Retreat by Dukley comprises ten luxury mountain cabins accommodating 31 fully equipped apartments across a range of accommodation categories. From intimate one bedroom residences to spacious multi bedroom units designed for families and groups, each apartment has been carefully conceived to offer privacy, comfort and a meaningful connection with its surroundings.

At the heart of the property is its restaurant Ember, conceived as a natural extension of the overall experience. Guided by the mountain environment and seasonal ingredients, the restaurant offers a warm and welcoming atmosphere where local flavours meet contemporary hospitality. Large windows frame the surrounding landscape, creating a dining experience shaped as much by the scenery as by the cuisine itself.

Beyond the retreat, guests have access to a destination that continues to gain recognition as one of the Balkans most compelling mountain escapes. Winter brings direct access to skiing and snow covered landscapes, while spring, summer and autumn reveal extensive opportunities for hiking, cycling, trail running and exploring the rich biodiversity of Bjelasica. Mountain lakes, panoramic viewpoints, dense forests and fresh alpine air make Kolašin a destination whose appeal extends far beyond a single season.

Mountain Retreat by Dukley arrives at a time when Kolašin is experiencing a remarkable transformation. Improved infrastructure, growing international interest and ongoing investment have positioned the region among the most promising mountain destinations in Southeast Europe. At the same time, its authentic character, preserved nature and sense of tranquillity remain unchanged, offering visitors an increasingly rare balance between accessibility and genuine connection with the natural world.

While guests are already enjoying the completed retreat from June, development of the next phase is well underway. Scheduled for completion by the end of the year, it will introduce a collection of intimate glamping accommodations immersed in nature, a large outdoor swimming pool, dedicated enclosed areas for guests travelling with pets and a signature event centre designed to host celebrations, corporate gatherings and curated experiences throughout the year.

These additions will further enrich the destination while preserving the principles that define Mountain Retreat by Dukley today: privacy, architectural quality, immersive mountain calm and a deep respect for the surrounding landscape.

More than a place to stay, Mountain Retreat by Dukley is a place to return to. A destination shaped by space, light, silence and nature's changing moods. A retreat where every season offers a different perspective and where the mountains of Montenegro can be experienced in their most authentic and inspiring form.