

A NEW CHAPTER AT BENEDICT CAFÉ: EUROPEAN CLASSICS THROUGH THE LENS OF A NEW CULINARY TEAM

Budva, Montenegro – From 1 October, Benedict Café in Budva enters a new chapter with a new culinary team led by Head Chef Alexey Melnyk and a completely refreshed food offering.

HI-RES PHOTOS:

https://drive.google.com/drive/u/1/folders/1_U53JyRETdLh7A1HloxILnkz1UYDnW

Warm, colourful and effortlessly chic, Benedict is the kind of place that works just as naturally for a long breakfast as it does for a spontaneous lunch or dinner by the sea. Its spacious interior, natural wood tones, greenery and panoramic windows create an inviting year-round setting, with views of the Adriatic as its most striking feature.

The new culinary direction is led by Alexey Melnyk, who brings his experience from renowned restaurants in Porto Montenegro to Dukley. Together with his team, he is shaping a menu built around familiar European favourites, reinterpreted with a contemporary approach, quality ingredients, clean flavours and a distinctive personal touch.

Mornings remain an essential part of the Benedict experience. The new breakfast menu combines classics with more modern creations, including a truffle and stracciatella omelette, tuna tartare breakfast, prawn bowl, shakshuka with cream cheese and syrniki with pistachio cream. Lighter options sit alongside pastries and desserts for those who prefer to give breakfast a little more time.

As the day unfolds, the à la carte menu takes on a different rhythm. Beef tartare, baked Camembert with pumpkin and linguine with prawns in bisque sauce lead into dishes such as tuna steak and filet mignon made with locally sourced beef. Chicken wings with kimchi mayonnaise keep the mood more relaxed, making Benedict equally suited to lunch with friends or an informal dinner.

The experience is rounded off with desserts that carry a more distinctive signature, such as the caramel and poppy seed éclair and the cranberry and sesame tart.

The menu also fits naturally into a more active lifestyle. Coffee or a light breakfast before Pilates, a meal after a workout, or a short break following a spa or beauty treatment make Benedict an easy stop alongside the fitness, wellness and beauty experiences available within the Dukley resort.

The arrival of Alexey Melnyk and the new menu do not change what guests already enjoy about Benedict. Instead, they move its story forward. With a stronger culinary signature, a new team and an offering that follows the rhythm of the day from morning through evening, Benedict brings a fresh reason to rediscover one of Budva's most inviting addresses with a view of the sea from 1 October.

Reservation

+382 69 160 003

reservation@dukley.com

Location

Dukley Gardens, Budva

