The event brought together women whose expertise, ideas and achievements make a difference in their communities. For those who lead teams, build businesses and inspire others, it offered time to pause, share experiences and reconnect with themselves.

Set against a peaceful mountain backdrop, the programme combined conversations on health, personal growth and beauty with wellness, dining and informal connection.

The first day began with a matcha ritual, followed by a cocktail reception and discussions on women's health. Dr Anđela Raičević from Biosave spoke about awareness of the BRCA1 and BRCA2 genes, while Karla Miranović explored astrology as a tool for personal reflection.

A shared dinner led into Exclusive Night, an evening of music and conversation.

Day two opened with Pilates, meditation and a nature walk, followed by a mountain breakfast. Psychotherapist Milijana Varagić reflected on the need to pause and reset, while Dr Nataša Radović from Moj Lab discussed hormones and their influence on everyday health and energy.

Skincare and beauty were explored by Wegapharm representatives Ivona Koprivica and Vesna Vukčević, followed by Lora Davidović's presentation of Svoja Samit. The Beauty Code panel brought together Dr Sanja Vujanović from MOA Clinic and Dr Elma Sujković for an open discussion on dermatology, aesthetic medicine and our relationship with beauty.

Partners Absolute Pilates, Matcha Corner, Biosave, Moj Lab, Wegapharm, Svoja Samit and MOA Clinic enriched the programme, bringing expert insight and a shared focus on wellbeing and community.

Between thoughtful discussions, shared meals and relaxed evenings, Women Who Lead created space for candid conversations and new connections. It celebrated the strength of women who support one another while making their own mark.

The retreat also showcased Mountain Retreat Hotel by Dukley as a welcoming setting for meaningful gatherings, bringing together mountain surroundings, attentive hospitality and versatile spaces for future retreats and events.
