Consumers are less likely to purchase products with incomplete PDPs

Consumers said product image capabilities actually increase their confidence in purchase decisions on websites they've never purchased from before

31% of people say the top thing that deters them from purchasing a product online is lack of compelling visuals and low-quality product visuals

And your competitors are offering this imagery...

81% of brands and retailers reported that they typically display at least five product visuals for a single product on their websites

Nfinite exists to help retailers automate and scale product imagery: Your entire PDP tray is a few clicks away!

With a 3D model for each product, packshots from every angle and 360°-spins are generated automatically, and lifestyle images are generated with a few clicks.
