Hair loss: types of alopecia and personalized treatment strategies

Hair loss: Types of alopecia and treatment strategies is a course developed with health practitioners and pharmacists active in the field of trichology in mind. In this series of three classes, Dr. Hudson Polonini guides us through an introduction to alopecia, including causes, classification, and evaluation, to then discuss current strategies for treatment. Dr. Polonini digs into the 8 main groups of pharmaceuticals used in therapeutic approaches for alopecia, finishing with an introduction to TrichoConcept™, the line of functional vehicles developed by Fagron for hair loss treatment, covering the scientific evidence behind the 7 TrichoConcept™ vehicles.
